George Snyder, his brother, and until recently cashier of the City National Bank | in the form of an indoor picnic last Friday of Kansas City, said this afternoon that he had not seen R. M. Snyder for several days and did not know where he is. "I think he is in New York city," said he, "but am not certain.

"How did his name become associated with the St. Louis scandal?" was asked. "I do not know," replied Mr. Snyder. R. M. Snyder has been interested in financial affairs in Kansas City for several years. He was the principal promoter and president of the Missouri Gas Company, whose advent was the cause of Kansas City securing dollar gas. Previous to that he was president of the Mechanics' Sayings Bank, a state institution that has gone out of business.

AMOUNTS TO $76,000.

Indianapolis capital again made itself felt yesterday in the secretary of state's office. Of the three Indianapolis concerns filing articles of incorporation, their combined to publish the best paper since it was beamount represented $76,000. Of these the largest amount is in the Marion County Realty Company, which is $50,000. The next largest is that of the Block Bridge and Culvert Company, with a capitalization of $25,000. This company has been building bridges for some time, but not as a corporation. Benjamin Blair has a patent on a peculiar make of block for bridges and culverts. The bricks are made of shale, vitrified and otherwise treated with chemicals, which is said to make them very strong Grain Bags-Amoskeag, $15.50; American, $15.50; and thoroughly impervious to water. A representative of the company yesterday said that already sixty bridges made of this particular make of brick are now in use in Marion county. It is said that a number of contracts have been made with interurban companies which purpose to run lines into this city. A bid will also be made for the erection of the new Washington-street bridge. It was said that as the bricks are made with large holes running from each end they would hardly do for bridge purposes, but a member of the company said that a bridge was built at Purdue University for the purpose of a test, and was so strong that it withstood a pressure of 176,000 pounds, representing 5,000 pounds to the square inch. The company proposes to erect its warehouses in this city, and at this place all material will be handled. Martin says he is the author of "A Bridegroom's Reverie," and that he holds a copyright on it. Attached to his bill of complaint is a manuscript of the sketch, He does not ask for a restraining order, which would necessitate his giving bond immediately, but for a permanent injunction and damages. The defendants have until April to file their answers. Martin alleges that he is not only injured financially by being deprived of his property but also that his professional reputation is being hurt by Walter Caryll having a part in the sketch and being represented in the lobby of the theater by Martin's photograph. The inference is that Martin considers himself so well known that the pubseeing his picture in the lobby, goes inside the theater and is shocked to find Martin acting so badly.
